

Intersection between meaning & features

1. use of continuous assessment techniques and ECTS

“For me, modularization is a strategy that uses continuous assessment technique and ECTS to measure students’ progress.”

“Among other things that makes modularization different from the traditional approach is its use of continuous assessment technique to evaluate student progress in a course. Not only this, it also uses ECTS to measure students’ progress towards their degree program.”

Intersection between meaning & features

2. Use of modules

“Modularization is a kind of teaching or organizing courses in a form of modules.”

“In my view the most important feature of modular approach is its use of module to design and teach educational activities.”